Principal's Report

Graduation Dinner

Last week we said a final goodbye to our Year 12 students of 2016 with a dinner at Boyton's Feathertop Winery. It was a wonderful evening with many enjoyable events but the one that has stayed with me was the speech from Josh and Gen, a very touching, thoughtful and humorous recollection of their years at Bright P-12 College. A huge thank you to Justin Power who has worked with great passion this year as Year 12 Coordinator and Senior Years Leader. I wish all our graduating students the very best for the future, and farewell parents who now leave us, and thank all their teachers for their dedicated work.

Japan Visit

During early November I was privileged to attend a two week language immersion excursion to Japan and in particular to our sister schools in Gamagori with a group of 12 students, 2 parents and John Henstridge. It was remarkable and an experience I would encourage all Japanese language students to consider in their secondary years. It gave us all a very deep understanding of the culture and context of Japan as well as an opportunity to practise language skills in authentic situations. A huge thank you to John for organising the trip, Marnie and Fi for their work during the two weeks and the students involved, who by the way were fantastic. Well done everyone.

Marngrook Footy Match

Last Saturday the annual Marngrook Football match was held at Bright P-12 College. The day consisted of many events organised by the planning committee that included a language workshop presented by Indigenous Languages students from Bright P-12 College, the match itself, an Art workshop also presented by students of Bright P-12 College, music by Nicki Bomba and the Dhudhuroa All-stars and match commentary by Nicki Bomba and Jason Reid. It was a great day that brought the communities together to celebrate. Many thanks to all involved for your efforts and passion.

Are you interested in the education of your child/children?

Over this year the College has been in review and we are now taking our learnings from the review to plan and set the College direction and goals for the next four years. In the last week of this term (date yet to be set) a parent forum around the plan will be advertised and I would encourage you to attend this event to give you a greater insight into the College and your role as parent partner.

Years 3 & 4 Camp to Melbourne

Last week the Year 3 & 4 students of Bright P-12 College travelled to Melbourne to experience some of the sights and sounds of a big city. The students and teachers visited Werribee Zoo & Mansion, Melbourne Museum, Southbank and Federation Square among other things. Many thanks to the organising teacher Lorraine Fraser and the accompanying teachers and parents. From all reports it was an extremely successful trip, even if a little exhausting for most. Well done.

Transition Days

This week has also seen our first of three transition days for Year 7 and Prep 2017. I had the pleasure of meeting all our new students during the day and thoroughly enjoyed meeting the new students to Bright P-12 College and our current students moving into the secondary area. Many thanks to our Transition Coordinators Jayne Forbes, Tes Pederick and Jenny Young for their hard work in organising the three days.

Exams and reports

As we near the end of this year teachers are writing reports to provide insightful and easily accessible feedback to parents and students around student learning outcomes of the second semester. The staff put in many hours assessing student performance to criteria and placing them onto the continuum of learning for each learning area, a task that is not always easy or straight forward. I would therefore encourage parents and students to take the time to read these reports together after you receive them later this year and discuss the strategies given for further learning.

Photographing Students Policy

This policy has been reviewed this year, however it is important to revisit these and remind parents and carers of their responsibilities when wanting to take video or photos of their children at events. This particular section of the policy is only in relation to Parent Guardian use.

Parent Guardian Use -

Parents and guardians can use photographs and videos taken at a school event for their personal use only.

Such photos and videos must not be sold and must not be published.

Parents and carers must follow guidance from staff as to when photography and videoing is not permitted and where to stand in order to minimise disruption to the activity.

Only images of children suitably dressed will be allowed to reduce the risk of images being used inappropriately. This may include swimming events.

In this section the word 'publish' refers to and does include Social Media. You may read the full policy by clicking on the following link -

Year 12 Graduation

Congratulations to all staff and students involved in the Year 12 Graduation evening last Thursday night. It was such a memorable evening at the new location of Boynton's. Justin Power did a wonderful job together with the ES staff in organising and coordinating the event. Hard to believe that I taught some of these students when I first started working at Bright P-12 College. What an amazing group of young adults, about to embark on their journey into their future. I wish them all the best.

Communities That Care

Together with Rosemary Bunge I have had the pleasure of being involved in this initiative in 2016. CTC have nearly finalised the planning phase and in 2017 we will commence programs and initiatives to improve the areas of our targeted focus:

Recommendation 1: Enhance Youth Mental Health.

Recommendation 2: Reduce adolescent alcohol use.

Recommendation 3: Increase family & student connection to school.

This initiative brings together major community stakeholders in partnership to improve the health and wellbeing of our youth and community.

Headstart

In the coming weeks our students from Years 7 to 11 for 2016 will be involved in the Headstart program. As mentioned in the last newsletter, this allows students to familiarise themselves with the requirements of their new subjects and to start the first assessment tasks for the 2016 academic year. This program is a very important part of the curriculum at Bright P-12 as it supports our aim for all students to set high learning goals for themselves and have high expectations for their overall achievement at school. Your influence at home is also very important in nurturing our young learners to achieve their goals and we value your support for this important program and welcome any feedback you may have, which could be sent to the college by email at bright.p12@edumail.vi.gov.au, phoning myself at the college on 0357551166 or sending in a note with your child.

Prep Transition Days

This week saw the first of three days of transition for our new Prep students. These days are planned around new preps familiarising themselves with the college, their teachers for 2017, and the other primary students. I always look forward to spending time with the students on these days and look forward to dropping in to their classrooms regularly during transition, and during next year, to be inspired by their enjoyment for learning. Well done to everyone involved in the organisation of these transition days, and in particular to Jayne Forbes and Tes Pederick for all of their hard work and meticulous planning.

Year 7 2017 Transition Days

As well as meeting our new Prep students this week I also had the pleasure to be involved in meeting our new Year 7 students, many of whom I already know and some of whom will be new to the school in 2017. The first few weeks of transition give students a chance to meet their new teachers and peers and allow them to familiarise themselves with the secondary area of the school. A big thank you to Jenny Young who is our transition leader and will be the Year 7 Coordinator in 2017. I would also like to thank the Year 7 teachers involved for the commitment to offering a meaningful transition program during a very busy time.

Please Note: School will be finishing at 2.00pm on Tuesday 20th December, the last day of Term 4.

Kelli Jacobsen—Assistant Principal.

Year 5/6 Billy Cart Race

On Friday 11th November, a billy cart race was held by the Senior Woodwork and VCAL students for the year 5/6 classes. The race track was a difficult course from the top of the soccer pitch to the footy goals. The carts were each different in design because they'd been made by the senior students.

We had a great time doing the race though it took a lot of effort to work on steering, pushing and keeping the cart itself in control.

We enjoyed winning the heats every time and the race itself. Big thanks to Cloud Nine Cinemas for the awesome prize. We really enjoyed the cart race and would love to do it again. By Jake G & Mikka P.

Thank you to Cloud9 for donating a prize for the winning team.

Year 10 & 11 Indigenous Studies

On Tuesday the Year 10 and 11 Indigenous Language class visited the day care pre-kinder room and presented a class teaching the children about Murrinh-Patha and Dhudhuroa languages.

They taught the children a number of animals in Murrinh-Patha and played some games.

Antipodeans Abroad
Community Service &
Leadership Expedition to India/Maldives

Annie Martin, Zoe Kent, Max Gray, Matt Shem and Callan Mantyvirta are departing Australia for India on 17th November where they will spend two nights in Kolkata. A local lady, Joy Handley, has given them a contact in Kolkata: two Australian teachers who conduct walking tours and have lived in India for several years. With their experience, the group expects to explore the city's sights, smells and atmosphere. They then head north on an overnight train to Darjeeling, where they will be involved in a community project in a boys' monastic school. After a week of community service, they will begin their trek. The team will be trekking the old Everest approach route, the Singalila Ridge. On this trek they will enjoy trekking through forest and fields of wildflowers as well as spectacular views of 4 of the world's 5 highest peaks covered in snow. They will reach a maximum altitude of 3636m! The team will be trekking for 5 days and will be staying overnight in trekkers' huts. Then they head back to Darjeeling for some rest and relaxation before heading west to Varanasi for 3-4 days, which they are all looking forward to! Before heading to the Maldives, they also will visit Agra and Delhi.

The team would like to thank the following organisations for making this young leadership experience possible:

Lions Club Bright
Rosenheim Cottage
Feathertop Winery
Punkah Pub
Dumu Café
Mountain Hut Accommodation
Mayford Wine
Birbante Pizza
Massage from Molly
Cloud Nine
Woolsworths

Dickens Real Estate
Mt Buffalo Olives.

Health Corner with Adolescent Health Nurse Rosemary Bunge

On Friday November 18th four Bright P12 College students made their way to Wangaratta to donate blood. What a great community service! As we sometimes find out, not all of us are able to donate every time but they managed 3 successful donations which means they saved up to 9 lives. Well done to our students for putting up their hands for this wonderful community service. Great work for making the effort Darcy Chellew, Jake Wood, Deja Tuovi and Clyde English.

MUSIC NEWS

SOIREE EXCELLENCE!!

We recently held two very successful Soirees for Term 4.

The Secondary Soiree was held at the Art Gallery with the beautiful backdrop of the Art Exhibition. It was great to see a wide variety of performers on the night from singers to piano players. Some of the pieces that were presented were very challenging and showed off the musicianship and technical prowess of some of our older students. Congratulations to all the students that played on the night.

The Primary Soiree was held in the Community Centre and featured many of our younger musicians. It was great to see students perform on stage, many for the first time. We had a mixture of players from a trumpet player to some very good drum performances. Again congratulations to all the students that were involved.

I would like to thank all the people who watched these concerts, and all the people who helped in getting these two events organized.

PRIMARY CHRISTMAS CAROLS

I have distributed a note to all the students in the primary school about the Christmas Carols on the 1st of December. The details in the note were as follows:

Later this term, Thursday the 1st of December, the primary students will be singing Christmas Carols at 6pm at the Bright Sound Shell. Each class will be performing a Christmas song and the Year 6 students will be performing their traditional 'own choice' dance item.

This concert is compulsory for all primary students. I would encourage you to come to the park with your wider family and friends to enjoy some festive music presented by our younger students.

The students have been working hard on memorising their Christmas song during this term and you will be in for a great night of entertainment.

Students are asked to come dressed in festive clothing.

Please mark this date in your diary and I look forward to seeing you all at the performance on Thursday, 1st of December.

NEVR MUSIC CAMP

Next year on the 28-30th of March there will be a 'Regional Music Camp' at Beechworth. This camp is a great opportunity for young musicians or singers to rehearse for three days and receive some great tuition from some talented music teachers. Students have the chance to perform in the Senior Concert Band, Junior Concert Band, Jazz Group, String Band or Pop Choir.

On the 30th of March they will put on a concert in Beechworth. There are scholarships available for students to get all or part of the cost of this camp paid for, see Mr Campbell for the details. The fee for the camp is $290 if paid for by the 24th of February. This fee is higher after this date. This camp is only available to 120 music students from across the region so get in quick so you do not miss out. Please see Mr Campbell for the details and paperwork for this camp.

Year 5/6 Canberra Camp

Our Year 5/6 students, together with students from Wandiligong and Harrierville schools, have recently undertaken an educational tour of our national capital. The students had a wonderful time experiencing a variety of educational programs with a focus on Australia's history, heritage and democracy.

During the camp we visited the Australian Institute of Sport where students played sports using the facilities there. We explored Questacon National Science and Technology Centre and participated in tours and educational programs at Old Parliament House, the Australian Electoral Commission and Parliament House. We learnt about the Australian experience of war and its enduring impact on Australian society at the Australian War Memorial. Here, we were able to experience the Last Post at the end of their day, where our school captains presented a commemorative wreath as part of the ceremony.

We would like to thank our parent volunteers Rae Hewitt, Lisa Hood, Michael Erdi and Gerard Gray, and our teaching colleague, Nicole Lodge (Wandiligong school), for their invaluable support on camp.

Special thanks also to Nightingale Apples for their very generous donations of apples for our morning and afternoon teas.

The students were well behaved at all times and their enthusiasm and respectful attitude assisted in making the camp enjoyable for all concerned.

Katie Ferrito, Klaire Johnston and Georgie Matters

The Australian Government recognises the importance of all young Australians being able to visit the national capital as part of their Civics and Citizenship education. To assist in making this happen the Australian Government is contributing $20 per student under the Parliament and Civics Education Rebate program towards those costs. The rebate is paid directly to the school upon completion of the excursion.

Students Reflections:

I found the War Memorial fascinating because you got to learn everything that happened in World War 1 and World War 2 and you also got to be a part of the WW1 and WW2 aspect.

You got to see all the real objects that came back from the wars that were in the battles for Gallipoli and Vietnam so that's what made it so special to be at the War Memorial.

Jacob West.

At Questacon we learned about earthquakes; they have a bigger impact when you lie on the ground. We also went on the vertical slide and the hockey machine and we learnt about science. Thomas Sutherland.

Our second game was lacrosse that I had never played before, it is a game where you have a basket thing on the end of a stick and you throw a tennis ball out of the end of it, through a goal. We did some warm ups, then played a game, I scored three goals, and the blue team won which was my team.

Lacrosse was really fun because I had never done it before.

Kai Stavar.

On the first day at camp, after dinner we went to Questacon. It was probably my favourite part about camp. It had a lot of cool things such as the gift shop, vertical slide, the air hockey robot, 4-way air hockey, speed-reader of throwing things, earthquake simulator and this thing that blows strips of cloth around. Shaun Scanlan.

First day! I loved it here! At first I wasn't sure about it because, well, I'm not the best at sports, but when I found out the sports, my heart raced: they were all different and sound-ed fun! I remember walking past heaps of water fountains and pools; I really wanted to swim, but that wasn't one of the sports. My first sport was indoor soccer, which was fun, my team won! Our second sport was lacrosse. My cousin plays this sport and I watched his games, playing it was awesome, once again our "Amazing" team won! Our last sport (my favourite) sock wrestling! I did really well, I pulled a lot of socks off and kept mine on! I was full of energy afterwards which led to a late night! Bella Price.

On Thursday morning we went to Old Parliament House, our guide was really nice. We went and sat in the Senate and everything was red (my favourite colour), the seats were also really comfy. We had a debate in the Senate about the dam in Tasmania that some people wanted to build and some didn't in the 1980s. I was secretly against the dam being built but I had to go on the Government side. Mikka Paulsen.

The best part about Questacon was obviously the giant slide, air hockey against a robot, a ball throwing machine and a cloth machine where you put tissue in a pipe and it takes a cloth around and around. It looks awesome. The air hockey was really fun because you played against a robot and it's really fun and hard because the robot has really good reflexes. The ball throwing thing was really fun, it's when you throw a ball really hard at this net and it gives you a speed reading like 81.66km/hr. The most fun part was the giant slide, it was fun but scary. You had to get into these orange suits and walk up some stairs and when you get up there you hold onto this bar and you drop 6.8 meters down. I did the swing 4 times. Luke Nannipieri.

When we went into the War Memorial we learnt about Raeian Simpson, a famous Australian soldier. He served in four different wars. He was in the Aussie training group. He went over to Vietnam to train the people over there. We also saw a man who was also in that training group. Jonah McIntosh.

When we got out of the bus the War Memorial didn't look like what I thought it would be. Then it got more interesting when we got inside because there were guns, planes and cars and more. There was a place where there was a body in concrete. Just outside, there was a long water pool with gold coins in it. I put 1 dollar in there, then we went up on the edge of the War Memorial and there was a really good view of the Parliament House and the Old Parliament House. Inside there was a helicopter with sounds of the helicopter then out of nowhere guns shots started going and people got a fright because they didn't expect it. Culley McCormack.

Year 5/6 Canberra Camp (Cont'd)

My favourite bit at Questacon was the vertical drop, it was about 6 and a half metres. First you had to line up and wait until you got an orange suit and then walked up the stairs. As I was walking up the stairs I was shaking. When it was my turn I had to dry my hands on the suit. I hung down and wouldn't let go when she said go. I hung on for about 3 seconds and then dropped. I badly wanted to scream but I kept it in. Once I had finished I felt a rush of adrenalin. Lara Lock.

At Questacon, as soon as you walked in, there was a human-like robot waving at you. It was kind of creepy because it looked weird and it could do whatever it wanted, but it couldn't walk or talk, it could only move its arms and head. The first room was about puzzles. I wanted to have a go at the ball maze but we didn't have enough time. The second room was the same thing as the first room. The third room was about weather; there was caged lightning that happened every 15 minutes; there was also an earthquake room. The fourth room was the best: it had a giant slide, smoke machine, fast ball nets and a vacuum thing that sucked up cloth. The last room was about water. It wasn't that exciting besides this diagram of how water works on farms. Harry Leech.

The war memorial was a peaceful place full of wonder where you could honour the fallen and place a poppy on the wall of remembrance. There were three light shows. One was about a helicopter taking off and dropping soldiers and supplies and an AN-ZAC base. Number 2 was about a British plane on a big journey to kill a German fleet. They lost 51 planes in the assault. I really felt for the families whose sons and daughters were killed in war. The 3rd and final light show was about all the evolutions of planes and how hard it was to fly them in WW1 and WW2. It said some planes tested the skill of even the most experienced and skilled pilots. Kaleb Hoare.

On camp one of my favourite locations was the Australian War Memorial. It was really interesting, realising all the people who gave up their lives for the future of Australia. When we first got there, we split up into four different groups. Our tour guide told us the story about a nurse called Grace Williams, who volunteered, like her three brothers, to serve in the war. Only one brother came back. After the tour we gathered around the pool of reflection for the last post. Most kids thought it was a little boring but I thought it was great. Maisie Filippi.

I walked in the front doors of the Telstra tower, and saw an elevator. We hopped in, and then I felt the elevator feeling, start and then stop. We hopped off, and saw the most beautiful view, out the window. Underneath most of the windows were the names of what you were looking at. After a while I finally realised that there were stairs leading to the roof. I was so excited, I ran up the stairs three at a time. When I got to the roof I almost vomited, and smiled. What I was seeing was unbelievable, the view was beautiful. I was scared and amazed at the same time. When we had to leave, Jazzy told me you could go around the whole thing. I quickly ran around and the view there was even cooler. Jasper Burgess.

At Questacon, we walked through lots of rooms with illusions and fun games showing kids science in a fun way. In one room there was a drop slide. It was vertical at the top for about a metre. You would hang from a bar at the top of the slide then let go. We had to wear big orange suits. I did it twice because it was so much fun. We experienced three earthquakes, which was really fun! I took lots of videos and photos, so many that my camera almost ran out of charge and memory. Jaslyn Brandon.

Questacon was amazing because normally it would be packed with people, but we had it to ourselves. There was an earthquake machine, talking robots, air hockey, giant slides, lightning generators and a TV that you could fast-forward, pause, slowdown and it showed you the start of the universe to now. The earthquake machine was really cool because first it was a 1.5 then it jumped to a 4.3 then it jumped to a 7.1. That's enough to destroy Hoover Dam's pillars and cause it to collapse. Ethan Barrett.

Questacon was filled with amazing science stuff including a walking talking robot called ROBO 2.0, an earthquake lab, fake lightning as well as so many different optical illusions. There was even an Air Hockey Playing Robot! It was unbeatable until Eden won by putting two pucks on the table, which made the robot very confused. Tayla Baldock.

German Long-Term Exchange 2016

German Long-Term Exchange 2016

Hi everyone, hope you're all well back in Australia. I am having an amazing time in Germany.

Language Experience:

After the short-termers left it was a bit weird to be honest. I got to school the next day and it felt very empty because we were used to seeing our Australian school friends in the morning and it was different not seeing them and speaking English. As a consequence, my German has got so much better! I'm able to understand some conversations now and I am sometimes even able to talk back. It's amazing how you can be in a country for so long and just adjust to the different language.

School Holidays:

We have also just recently had a one week school holiday and my amazing host family took me to ... Italy! We travelled with the caravan down to Rome and we stopped in Venice for two nights. It's such a beautiful city. I saw gondolas and the little tiny water canals that have tiny bridges over them.

We visited the Colosseum. It was amazing. We also visited the Vatican and went to the top of the dome where I could see all of Rome. It was so beautiful, we were lucky to have such good weather. There are lots of amazing churches in Italy and we went to four in one day because of the Holy Doors legend. They say that if you go to these four doors in these four churches, including the Vatican, then God would forgive you for everything bad that you have done.

Hope everyone is all well back at home and see everyone soon.

Matilda Manning

The Vatican is was absolutely amazing!!!!

Well, living in Germany is very different after your safety net leaves! The first 4 weeks were great with all the 'short-termers' here. At school you could always find someone you knew and you had lots of people to talk to but once that was gone and just Tilly and I were here, things change. You have to talk to people! It also seems that more people talk to you once you're not in a group.

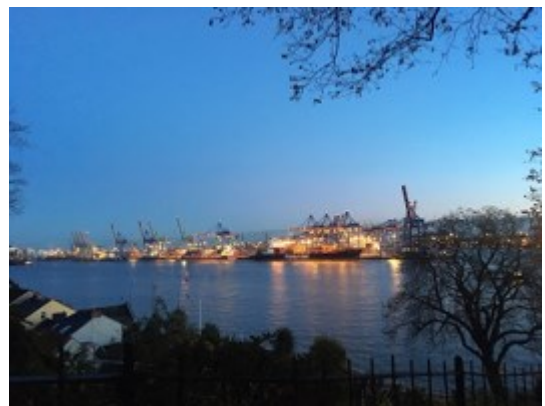

After one week with no safety net we had holidays! It was nice to have a bit of time with my host family and see a bit more of Germany. For our holidays we spent the first few days at home then went to Hamburg. It was a really long drive. Over 8 hours and almost 900kms in a car is hard!

Hamburg was beautiful. We saw the Port and the masses of ships and shipping containers, we went for a walk through Hamburg and saw a few churches, shops and the Miniature World.

One of my favourite part of going to Hamburg was our trip to the North Sea. We drove up to the North Sea on Friday and spent the day there. It was really cold but really fun. Walking out to the beach I was thinking it was really cold (about 3 degrees) only to get out onto the beach and find people kite surfing in the water!

After getting back from Hamburg we spent a day at home. It was nice to relax. Sitting in my room doing some homework (hard to believe) I looked out the window to see it SNOWING!!!! I love snow. There wasn't enough to stay here but the next day we went for a drive and spent some time playing in the snow. It was lots of fun and I can't wait until the snow settles here.
